

Investigative Surveying work near the intersection of Pape Ave and Danforth Ave

Starting as early as November 21, 2022

What is happening?

Metrolinx will be conducting pump test surveying work to monitor groundwater and measure change in water levels. This is part of the investigative work for the Ontario Line.

Timing

- Scheduled start:
November 21, 2022
- Duration:
Approximately five (5) days
- Day(s): Monday-Friday
- Hours: daytime and nighttime

What to expect

- Residents and businesses near work site can expect to hear noise caused by construction equipment. Testing will be conducted within the City of Toronto's noise bylaws.
- 3-4 parking spaces will be occupied by a drill rig that will conduct the pumping test.
- There will be no impact outside of the parking lot.
- The test is a continuous one over the course of 72 hours meaning that once the pumping starts, it does not finish until the test is complete.
- Equipment will be removed at the end of the work period.
- Work may be delayed or rescheduled due to weather conditions or unforeseen circumstances.
