

Rutherford GO Construction Update

July 31, 2020

The local project

Metrolinx contractors continue work on a rail-over-road underpass at Rutherford Road, to remove the existing level-crossing and allow for enhanced local safety, better traffic flow and more frequent GO service.

Construction update

The contractor is currently working along Rutherford Road to install supporting infrastructure for the excavation of the underpass.

Vertical drilling east of the tracks along Rutherford Road has been completed; drilling on the west side is ongoing and is expected to continue through to Spring 2021. Forming and pouring concrete for the new grade separation infrastructure is scheduled to start mid-August and continue into the winter.

The contractor has made significant progress on the excavation on the east side of the track, and will continue excavating both the east and west approaches into 2021. Concrete works for the underpass will begin during the month of August.

What this means for you

There will be some overnight work required over the course of the project to complete the works. The contractor will be working double shifts and night shifts regularly beginning in August and into the winter as they excavate deeper into the underpass and continue building the new platform and tracks. Every effort will be made to reduce disruptions.

As a result of the work, you might experience noise and dust resulting from construction. If lights are required to complete the overnight work safely, they will be pointed away from households and windows. We apologize in advance for any inconvenience, and we'll make every effort to minimize disruption as much as possible.
